Achieve that 'hotel quality bed' feeling at home

Nothing compares to that wonderful feeling of slipping in between crisp, freshly laundered white sheets in a luxury hotel room. The weight, softness and quality help you achieve a deep, dreamless sleep leaving you feeling pampered and refreshed.

Superior quality bedding is a mark of an elite hotel yet is very difficult to replicate once you return home.

Thankfully, Fou Furnishings, suppliers of organic bed linen to top international hotels such as the famous luxury 5 star London Langham Hotel, offer an affordable at-home range of ethically-sourced and fair traded organic bed linens.

Founder of Fou Furnishings, Stephanie McIntosh says,

“The reason that organic hotel bed linen feels so special is that it has a very high thread count, meaning it is super durable and also gorgeously soft on the skin. The difference in quality, feel and finish is instantly recognisable and the fact that our linens are free from toxins and other nasties means that they’re suitable for the most sensitive of skin while being kind to the environment.”

Fou Furnishings offers a range of adult, child and baby organic bed linens, towels and cushion covers, in a range of exclusive elegant designs to give you that ‘hotel quality feeling’ every day. The linen arrives in an organic drawstring bag to keep it clean and safe when not on the bed.

Stephanie, who began her career in the linens department of renowned London store, Liberty, founded Fou Furnishings in 2008, when she decided to set up her own company which focused on design, the quality of the fabrics and their ethical sourcing.
